

Plot

-the chain of events that tells us what happens in a story

Exposition

-includes the setting, characters and any necessary facts that are needed to understand the story, as well as sets the tone for the story

Conflict

-the problem that the character is faced with (external and internal)

Rising Action

-the events that lead up to the climax of the story

Climax

-the highest point of the story for both interest and emotions

Falling Action

-the events that lead up to the ending of the story

Resolution

-when all the loose ends are tied up and the reader has a conclusion to the events of the story